How to run this plan

- Build your day from 1 breakfast + 1 lunch + 1 dinner + 1 snack. Any combo lands you right around 2,000. No math needed.
- Protein is the anchor: aim for 150g every day. Hit that and everything else falls into place.
- Rotate the 3 options so you never get bored. Same slot, different meal, still on plan.
- Prep the meal-prep ones on Sunday. Cook the chicken, beef, and rice once and you are set for the week.
- Log it in the app. Save your go-to meals to Favorites so re-logging takes 10 seconds.
- Chaos day? Lean on the no-cook options. A tuna wrap or a shake still counts. Never skip.

Simple beats perfect. Pick, eat, log, repeat. Consistency on the easy version wins every time.

Breakfast

~450 cal · 35g P

No-cook or 5-minute. Get protein in early so cravings do not run the day.

OPTION B1 (GO-TO)

Greek Yogurt Power Bowl

1 cup Fage 0% Greek yogurt + 1 scoop vanilla protein stirred in + 1/2 cup berries + 1/4 cup granola.

~420 cal · 42P

~290 cal · 30P

Putting It Together

Two days that hit your numbers

Easy Day

Breakfast · Greek Yogurt Bowl	420 / 42P
Lunch · Chicken Burrito Bowl	560 / 48P
Dinner · Sheet-Pan Salmon	600 / 44P
Snack · Protein Shake + Banana	300 / 30P
Total	~1,880 / 164P

No-Cook Day

Breakfast · PB Overnight Oats	450 / 34P
Lunch · Tuna Crunch Wrap	520 / 42P
Dinner · Beef + Sweet Potato	590 / 46P
Snack · Turkey Roll-Ups	290 / 30P
Total	~1,850 / 152P

Both land right at your target with 150g plus protein. If you are still hungry, add a second snack or bump the rice, do not go under 1,800.

The rules that make this work

- Protein first, every meal. Build the plate around it and the rest is easy.
- Never drop below 1,800 calories. Under-eating is what triggers the late-night raid on the pantry.
- Prep on Sunday. Cook the proteins and rice once, portion it, and the week runs itself.
- Rotate the options. Three choices per slot means it never gets boring, so you never quit.
- Log it in the app. Save favorites, snap a photo of anything new, keep it simple.
